In response to a congressional request, GAO reviewed the Social Security Administrations (SSA) actions to refocus its computer systems modernization efforts to determine the: (1) status of the software design and database integration; (2) relationship between the Systems Modernization Plans (SMP) projects and key areas; (3) impact that new projects included in the plan may have on SSA computer systems; and (4) adequacy of the legislatively mandated comprehensive automatic data processing (ADP) plan. GAO found that SSA: (1) scaled back its efforts in software redesign and database integration in order to complete projects it believed would achieve the greatest benefits; (2) concentrated on redesigning software for part of the insurance program benefits project and planned to complete the majority of the projects by late 1990 and the remainder by late 1992; (3) will address the remainder of the program benefits project and three of eight other software projects under its new strategic planning process; (4) developed a long-range strategic planning process consisting of three parallel efforts to guide its future operations, but had not reached the level where the ADP portion...

Reviews

This book is definitely not straightforward to get started on studying but extremely exciting to read. It is really simplistic but shocks in the 50 percent of the ebook. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

This publication is amazing. It is definitely basic but shocks in the fifty percent of your publication. You wont feel monotony at anytime of your own time (that's what catalogues are for concerning if you question me).
